Jan Rejcha was born in the Czech Republic from a blood line of musical greatness that reaches back for two centuries. His line of family musicians predates back to Anton Reicha who played with Ludwig Van Beethoven and became a teacher to such musical icons like Berloiz and Liszt before going on to establish the Conservatory of Music in Paris in the early 1800's. Jan at the age of 14 was performing in front of audiences with music by Beethoven, Chopin and Mozart and had earned enough respect and awards to empower his drive to persue a lifetime passion to compose and create music through his adult life. Gathering all his talents, his melodies and emotions has evolved the music to take us on a journey we seldom explore.

Dan D'Andrea was born in Scarborough, Ontario, Canada and at the age of six saw Gene Crupa perform and knew right then he was going to play drums. He started playing in his late teens and has been hard at it ever since. Following progressive bands like Yes, King Crimson and various European bands has kept his direction on the heavier side of music. He has played in various bands that range from Country to Black Sabbath and has spent hundreds of hours in the studio working on original music with past bands. Now exploring music of a classical nature. Egritus.com "Jan's music is beautiful and mesmerizing!" Gino Empry, Gino Empry Entertainment - Toronto, Canada
