I mean how many times can one listen to "The Wheels On The Bus....." before needing some sort of therapy. "Michael Dvorken has that rare ability to write great songs for kids that adults can appreciate, too! His songs speak to his young listeners on their level without a hint of condescension. Can't wait for the follow-up to Eatin' Watermelon." -Fred Koch, BestChildrensMusic.com About The Author Michael Dvorken is a Texas native who grew up in Wichita Falls. He graduated from North Texas State University with a BA in art and has been writing and playing music since high school. Drawn by the live-music scene, Dvorken moved to Austin, TX in the early 80's. A couple of years ago Michael decided he wanted to do a project strictly for fun and wrote some children's songs for his godsons. When producer/engineer Jim Butler suffered a stroke Michael and many of his musician friends helped him through his medical difficulties. Wanting to do an upbeat project to further his rehabilitation, they recorded this CD titled "Eatin' Watermelon."
