This San Diego based band is on to something good with a tight, upbeat sound and an eclectic mix of styles. The transitions are smooth and the jams build solidly. Colorado Image Magazine The four guys and a gal render a tight mix of jazzy rock that's occasionally punked out with ska horns. Guitarist Chris Kelly provides Hendrix-inspired fills. Brain Buckit's willingness to experiment with their sound is admirable. San Diego Reader I've been gently enlightened as to the importance of wearing a Buckit on your Brain when traveling the intergalactic sonic speedway. BRAIN BUCKIT, rocked out the closing set and threw a self-contained energetic party on stage. North Jersey Music Like the neo-blues roadhouse funk they like to riff on (The Meters, Taj Mahal, Hendrix), the overall underbelly feeling of BB's back alley grooves is probably left unspoken. Just show up, turn off your temporal lobe and listen to your loins. San Diego City Beat magazine It's like AC/DC goes to Mardi Gras! The funky jams and rock and roll are back and the party's getting bigger. Not only has BRAIN BUCKIT consistently been expanding their fan base across the country, but the band is growing as well...more horns! The BOZONE, Montana Brain Buckit possesses a unique vibe. The band tears up the Stage with their funky, jammin' rock and roll with a twist of blues. The Colorado Music Scene
