He started to love music when he was a little child and at the age of six he started to play the piano. In 1994, one of his friends invited him to feel the emotion to stay in front of the consolle and so Manuel started his work as dj taking his first steps in the vinyl's world. In the years after, a strongly fusion of different music styles like house and deep-house carried him to play in some clubs of his city like guest and resident dj. So he started to play in small clubs and private parties to arrive then in some famous clubs in his small city, in this time a strong group of friends created by public relationer follow him and in 2000 he started the way to become organizing of events creating the staff which name is "The Week", and by this staff he carries the electro-house music in that city that it seems to be close to the transgression and new musical knowledges. In first events where it was proposed high quality of music played in a theatrical locations; then, with the complete direction of a club, Manuel organized some special parties with the participation of big national and international guests. In these years Manuel needed to get a turning point to his career as artist and he decided to create a Recording Studio to express in better way his musical ideas producing his first tracks and proposing them in the clubs where he usually played. In 2005, after several changes in his life and in his music, he was been paid with the publishing of his first single which he had success in many european towns. In the same year, two songs were been selected by some italian radios for various musical programs and then they were been setted in the famous compilation "Cocktail Musique". In 2006, with the NuForm Music's collaboration, after one year of hard work, his first album came out, it was an intense, and rich of ambient/chillout sonorities project. Then he was been contacted for some remixes, from Australia, Germany and from Canada, he tried to propose himself as artist and worked with some italian and european labels, he also made an agreement with a singer for his first vocal-chillout project. There are so many plans in working at the moment and others for the next years, but what the future riserves will be all to discover You can visit his space on:
