No style safety-net here, the album careers over a sea of pop sub-genres. Prepare yourself for forty minutes of well-crafted, perfectly presented tunes that are simply good to listen to. One or two are fun, a couple more make you think, then another one makes you dance, whether you want to or not! Juliet arrived in London from Wellington, New Zealand. She wasted no time getting gigs in pubs, bars, artist nights - whatever. She had a blast and made somewhat of a name for herself too...venues kept asking her to come back! "London is such a trip! It's such a full-on place. I was gigging and writing - as always! - and going out having fun. London is endless for that, but after a while I felt a bit guilty so I had to make time for the gym, and dance classes...oh yeah and yoga too! And as if I wasn't busy enough I then had to find time for recording. Believe me, that really takes a lot of time, especially if you're a perfectionist like me. But it was definitely worth the sacrifices and the hard work really paid off - I'm really pleased with the result. I just hope everyone else likes it too!"
