"Mind traps that hinder personal success" is one of the most unveiling works on human behavior. It deals with the mind traps humans get into that hinder their personal success, and shows the limits and possibilities to avoid such traps. It describes in synthetic conceptual language the diagnosis of each trap and its implicit antidotes. It is part of the Unicist Architecture Collection of Peter Belohlavek, which synthesized the structural-functionalist approach to business architecture, showing in this case the barriers individuals need to jump to focus on solutions. This book covers, among other subjects: Intentions vs. facts, Intelligence and anti-intelligence, intuition and anti-intuition, fear of ridicule, fear of failure, fear of rejection, fear of success, perception fallacies, the origin of fallacies, conceptual structure of fallacies, operational segments of fallacies, dynamics of fallacies validated during the research, human complexes as anti-concepts, the ontology of human essential complexes, Oedipus complex, inferiority complex, superiority complex, avoiding degrading contexts, ethical intelligence to avoid complexes, the unicist standard to overcome complexes, unicist reflection methodology. It provides diagnosing structures to be aware of limits and opportunities while designing personal or institutional strategies. It works as a mirror for those prepared to make the difference.
