Music Details: Juan Miguel was born in Barcelona, Spain. At an early age, with his family, he moved to Cuba where he lived for twelve years. There he learned to appreciate Latin rhythms. Later, after having moved to the US he began playing in local rock bands. Originally a bass player and later on, drummer for various rock acts, he toured and recorded as well as writing material for the band. After producing and writing for various independent artists, he began a solo career and started to write for himself. This time switching to keyboards and choosing the "romantic" style of music evident in his compositions. With the help of a few friends, all excellent musicians, he put together his first CD project, The Bridge. His second effort, entitled Your Kisses... Your lips, was released next. This is another collection of romantic melodies which has been called "love making music." These CDs have been released internationally. The third and latest album is finally here. "Amantes" (Lovers) is an assortment of re-mixes and new songs with a definite Latin flavor. Amantes is a compilation of passionate instrumental and vocal music with bewitching melodies and sensual rhythms. It features live instruments interwoven amidst a patchwork of electronic soundscapes and inspired string arrangements. Driven by a variety of Urban and Latin rhythms, Juan Miguel's compositions are very romantic and yet driving musical creations
