Back porch music played in a front porch world 13 MP3 Songs FOLK: Traditional Folk, BLUES: Acoustic Blues Details: What do you get when two well traveled brothers settle down with old acoustic and electric guitars, a distorted harmonica and decide to play roots music on a front porch in rural Northern Minnesota? Teague and Ian Alexys musical paths have gone down many different roads. Between the two they have sold over 3,000 records and have established themselves as respected independent songwriters and musicians in many different regions of the country. Up until now their musical roads have been largely separate. The creation of The Hobo Nephews of Uncle Frank has brought their music and their lives back together. After growing up with Ian in Somers Point, New Jersey, Teague headed west to expand his musical horizons in San Diego. Teague briefly returned to South Jersey to co-found Spilled Milk who quickly became one of the most successful original bands to ever grace the storied Jersey Shore bar scene. Teague soon left Jersey behind again to test the musical hotbed of Minnesota where Teague Alexy with Medication became one of the most respected bands on the independent scene touring all around the Midwest and eventually all the way out to the west coast. The Reader Weekly said Teagues music is unduplicated anywhere else, though considering how infectious it is, expect to see imitators cropping up soon. But for now, heres the original. After spending a year at Berklee Music School in Boston, Ian moved to Vermont to further study guitar at Goddard College which eventually led to a semester of study in Ghana, Africa. He spent time in numerous jazz-rock outfits including Dad and Leon Tubbs while also performing as a solo singer/songwriter. The Burlington music publication Seven Daze hailed Ian as one of the areas hottest, young guitarists with a casual precision that shows in his songwriting. Ian then moved to Minnesota to join Teague Alexy with Medication on lead guitar and to promote his debut solo CD Rootedness. Since releasing their impressive debut album this past summer The Hobo Nephews have played The Green Man Festival (Duluth, MN), The Log Jam Festival (Ely, MN), The Feel Good Festival (Wisconsin) and countless theatres, bars, coffee shops, colleges and barns all over the Midwest and beyond. They were recently invited to the prestigious 10,000 Lakes Festival along with return engagements at this summers Green Man and Feel Good Festivals.
