Young Catrina's unusually powerful voice often brought church congregations other audiences to tears. Early, her talents screamed anticipation of superstardom. She was a young connoisseur of dancing choreography and began formal training at age six. Multi-talented and Multi-dimensional, Catrina soon blossomed as a Lyricist and Producer and by the tender age of ten, was commanding school programs and local talent shows as she sang and danced to her own songs. And so evolution, determination dedication have perfected a phenomenal young woman. She is a stunning yet innocent beauty, reflecting her African-American, Latin-Italian Bohemian lineage. Catrina is both an accomplished scholar and artiste, poised to captivate the worlds' eye, mind, ear, and soul as a singer, songwriter, producer, dancer, actress, model, and on and on - a consummate entertainer. The Detroit native credits wonderfully diverse musical influences, from the vocal styling of Aretha Franklin, Whitney Houston, and Yolanda Adams to the performance and composition of Marvin Gaye, Donny Hathaway, Eric Clapton, Bob Marley, to the production of Diane Warren David Foster. In fact, it was Houston David Foster's rendition of "I Will Always Love You" that transcended Catrina's song-writing, inspiring the open door to her soul, and breathing life into the most intimately personal lyrics. Her songwriting has excelled to embrace the honesty of Gwen Stefani, the poetry of Alanis Morissette, the insight of Donnie Hathaway, the intensity of Tupac Shakur, and the soulfulness of Alicia Keys. Her magnetic voice and thought-provoking verse are certain to mesmerize listeners. Catrina's work is a continuous journey, crossing many musical genres,
