Acoustic folk-rock of mainly Celtic inspiration with guts personality. Lovers of rousing ass-kicking tunes that don't forget to have a melody, welcome. 13 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, WORLD: Celtic Details: We have been described by press and fans as the acoustic Pogues, the Chieftains on speed or even a Celtic Mano Negra... Ceili Moss plays acoustic folk-rock of (mainly) Celtic inspiration, both traditionals and original compositions, always in for fresh pints and hot atmospheres.

----- "They aren't as punk as The Pogues, but they have a bit of that attitude and it gives them an edge many celtic groups lack" (Widdershins) "A delightful romp courtesy of a Celtic ensemble from Belgium. [...] GTFYW has that late-night-at-the-pub sort of feeling, full of warmth and camaraderie." (Dirty Linen) "They should be more self-confident, because GTFYW offers much more than just folk standards." (Dreun) "They have a remarkable ability to keep the balance between tradition and modernity and play ageless tunes with remarkable freshness." (Celtic World) "Festive, rousing and colourful music, interpreted with enthusiasm and skill. No doubt a very good experience on stage!" (Musiczine) "Well above the average Irish pub band level. I'm very curious to see them live." (Folkroddels) "CM confirms its strong live reputation: elaborate arrangements, powerful vocals, warm atmospheres and the accent put on strong danceable uptempo tunes." (Folktribune) "A band with a fantastic repertoire. Strongly recommended!" (The Celtic Muse)
