"The St. Louis ensemble Jupiter Jazz offers one of the more intriguing and experimental musical blends on the contemporary scene, blending rap and spoken word inserts with funk, fusion and jazz-based instrumentals." - The Nashville City Paper, 2006

7 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Alternative Hip Hop, JAZZ: Jazz Fusion Details: Jupiter J a z z Through music we speak in ways that all know but have, come what may, forgotten. We speak in verse, which has been crafted in an era where romance fueled the hearts of man, woman and child alike. We speak the international language of music that has been lost in the linings of finely crafted suits and high powered automobiles. Our music was born to a young inner city mother, whose only way to please our child like fury was to arm us with instruments and ambition so we could fashion blissful sounds that would seduce and slay all accepted wisdoms of the death of Hip-Hop and Spoken Word. Jupiter Jazz is taking Hip-Hop back to its foundation by blending Spoken Word and Hip-Hop lyrics into the harmonious union. Via live instruments, and seasoned vocalist, Jupiter Jazz is reinventing live underground Hip-Hop. Jason H. | Neil K. | Jason B. | Keil A. | Jason K. | Jerry H. Ju-pi-ter! Jupiter Jazz performs its own fusion of live hip-hop and spoken-word poetry..." - The River Front Times, 2005 "The six-man Jupiter Jazz consists of Jason "J.P." Hill on hip-hop vocals, Jason "The Professor" Braun on spoken-word vocals, Keil "The Swami" Anderson on the electric violin, Jerry Hill (also known as The Infamous j.Hill) on drums (brother of the Himalayas' Jef and Jason Hill), Jason "The Unknown" Koenig on bass, and Carbondale native Neil "One Neillion" Kulupka on guitar...." - The Night Life, 2005 "It may not be a new phenomenon but it is definitely out there. Jupiter Jazz experimentally fuses elements of jazz and funk with the ranks of battle rap and poetic characteristics." - The Daily Egyptian, 2005
