Melodic folk 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, ROCK: Folk Rock Details: Recorded at home on vintage analog equipment, Adobe Creek is a song cycle about embracing and accepting change. All instruments, and most of the vocals, are performed by Derek See, who is also a member of bay area folk-rock band Careless Hearts (and who was formerly in Chicago based bands Resplendent, I Sharko, and Long Division). But in Adobe Creek, Derek strips his 12 songs down to their emotional core, and the instrumentation balances simplicity and dynamics, leaving space for the listeners imagination. While many of these songs seem like love letters, theyre not necessarily about romantic relationships, although the folk-tinged Hair From Your Face and You Danced Into My Life focus on the glory and innocence of new love. A highlight of the album is Your Ghost, which deals with loss and how it can play games with your consciousness. Stargazer laments the loss of friends who burned themselves out while still young, and the emptiness felt by those left behind. Step Down is one of Dereks rare forays into politics, prompted by the heartbreak of governments utter failure in the wake of Hurricane Katrina. Other songs on this wide-ranging album confront mental illness, alienation, and breaking free of conformity. Together, the songs of Adobe Creek comprise an insightful journey across both physical landscapes and the inner space of the human spirit.
