An acoustic pop journey of love songs, lust songs, and bachelor appropriate tunes. 12 MP3 Songs POP: Beatles-pop, ROCK: Acoustic Details: Fernando Tarango was raised in a West Texas town in an adobe house where he grew up listening to Oldies, Country, Tex-Mex, and his dad's mariachi records. In the third grade he was recruited by the American Boychoir School (americanboychoir.org) and was sent away from home at the age of 10 to become a professional choirboy. After traveling the world recording and performing, he returned to his family who had by then relocated to Indiana, for the Middle-America-Catholic-high school-life (bishoplusers.org) where he listened to more oldies and grew to love Jesus. At the University of Michigan School of Music as a vocal performance major Fernando joined the Michigan Men's Glee Club (ummgc.org), was chosen to become a Friar, and soon forgot about Jesus. His new loves included: Beer, Women, Merriment, and Music Making. After his college girlfriend stole her sister's warped Epiphone and gave it to him as a gift, he scratched women off the list of loves and in its place put songwriting. Mr. Tarango now finds fulfillment making a living in the Bay Area as a professional singer/soloist and teaching gym class for the elite of the Pacific Boychoir Academy (pacificboychoir.org).
