Details: Each human story in each song of the PRAY SERVICE album is taken from the dramatic story in one of the musical screenplays of Dave Stauffers seven-movie screenplay series, Sow Yoats! In the seven related stories, the same characters are followed from the age of six to their middle age in many dramatic, insightful, religious, romantic, and sexy subplots. The seven screenplays incorporate about eighty original songs that Dave Stauffer has written, and his talented band of Believers has recorded. The plots have a lot to do with dating, maturing, and philosophy dealing with God and so do the songs they sing. In several of the PRAY SERVICE songs, the singers speak their lines in or during the song, which adds a deep meaning to the words of the songs. By listening to the words and the mood of the music, each listener can feel the emotion of the dramatic event that the song describes in the screenplay. To write his songs, Dave Stauffer has drawn on his many years of singing tenor in church choirs as well as his years of singing, playing bass and guitar, and writing songs in several rock and roll bands that played for years in smoky bars and taverns. Along the way, he acquired a community of outstanding singers and musicians to record his harmonious songs. Occasionally, Dave Stauffer has stumbled on flashes of musical brilliance such as his observation that Jesu, Joy of Mans Desiring by Johann Sebastian Bach and Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee by Ludwig Von Beethoven were written in the same key and, with a little imagination, had the same beat, so that Bach and Beethoven could be combined into the Bach-Beethoven Duo. Additionally, he wrote dramatic words to fit his screenplay and added them to the romantic mood of Theme from the Second Piano Concerto of Sergei Rachmaninoff (1873-1943), which resulted in Washed. The PRAY SERVICE album contains a wide variety of musical styles: Go In Peace is a reggae song sung by six different lead singers who combine into a six-part harmony choir by the end of the song. Keep The Faith is a modern creation which sounds like an old-time revival meeting. Ill Stick With You combines a four-part harmony part with a three-part counter-melody, resulting in seven-part harmony over a three octave range. This Little Child is destined to become a theme song of both Mothers Day and Fathers Day. Finally, The Dirge is like no other religious song ever recorded in that it combines a three-part mens chorus with another two-part mens counter-melody; in it, the listener is placed at the funeral where the first mens chorus escorts the deceased to the beyond and the second mens chorus prays for the intervention of God. The PRAY SERVICE album ends with Keep The Faith (Long Version) to give the listener a true religious experience to sustain them on their lifes journey.
