Personal, intimate acoustic storytelling of love lost, love hoped for, and, in 'If You Touch Me', a simple acoustic guitar accompanied 'bottom line'- includes a couple of light comic songs about chocolate sung by an award-winning singer/songwriter/romanti 11 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Cabaret, FOLK: Folk Pop Details: "D.C. Anderson possesses a subtle and supple voice that envelopes a song and caresses each lyric with an understated honesty that is both touching and refreshing." Jonathan Frank - Talking Broadway.com "There is a powerful dynamic at work here - as funny as he can be (singing 'Human Fondue' - the effects of a night of chocolate smeared lovemaking, or 'Chocolate is Fine' - giving us all the excuse we need to indulge our obsession with the stuff), he can surprise you with a serious, heartbreaking BALLAD...a unique artist. Barbara and Scott Siegel - Theatermania.com "Anderson sings with storytelling mastery!" Don Heckman - Los Angeles Times "Anderson's voice is rooted in the folk/pop style with a soothing quality...it's on the ballads that he really shines!" David Hurst - Showbusiness Weekly D.C. Anderson is a Bistro Award winning Singer/Songwriter with a catalogue of 5 CD's on the LML Music label. BALLAD - independently released, his sixth recording in 10 years, is the first to feature all original works. Primarily a lyricist, D.C. has written with composers Carol Hall, Roy Zimmerman, Ricklen Nobis, Elizabeth Doyle, Rick Snyder and Steven Landau on BALLAD. His CDs are recorded live - accompanied on a grand piano, with acoustic guitar, and/or with acoustic bass. His musical collaborators have included pianists Steven Landau, David Robison and Lem Jay Ignacio, bassists Ritt Henn and Jennifer Leitham, and guitarist Roy Zimmerman. Also an actor - D.C. has performed on television, on Broadway, on National Tour and in regional productions at the Steppenwolf (Chicago), Great Lakes Shakespeare (Cleveland), and Guthrie (Minneapolis) Theaters.
