Downtempo breakbeats with liquid basslines feature medieval female vocals, jazzy keyboard riffs, and gentle, lyrical guitar solos. Deep-space explorations inspired by Tangerine Dream make use of similar vocal tracks, reminiscent of Enya or perhaps Lisa Gerrard; hymns from the Requiem Mass are set to bombastic, orchestral Reformist House tracks. Other tunes are simply Bach-style chorales accompanied by synthesizer in a style reminiscent of Wendy Carlos. And there's even some frenetic, operatic Drum 'n' Bass. Anzai's music runs the gamut -- those in search of orchestral electronic music need look no further.
