Details: They can explode into fragments like a bomb charged with splinters of pop, jazz and trip-hop. Or implode with the deafening silence of an intimate ballad. We are talking about Lavalu. Lavalu is energy! Indie jazz pop; a rush like a rollercoaster ride. Marielle Woltring is the face and brains of Lavalu. Shes the singer, pianist and composer of the band. Her voice fits right into the void between Bjrk and Roisin Murphy. Her personal lyrics and the way she conjures rhythm and harmony, together with the top quality playing of musicians Yonga Sun (drums), Miguel Boelens (saxophones fx) en Jrg Brinkmann (cello fx) form an elixir of pop, jazz, rock en trip-hop. Lavalu calls it Nu Pop. Their music is so innovative that none of the existing genres fit. This band is rather unlikely to move within strict boundaries. Marielle Woltring eschews everything that is forced in any way: Honesty, especially to oneself, is Lavalus credo. We create music which makes us happy when we play it and foremost we want our audience to just have an exciting night. Each time it is fantastic to see the audience exploding with us. Reviews: Is this funk? Classical? Jazz? Pop? None and all of the above. Lavalu is indie, creative and very exciting. WE WANT MORE! OOR That Marielle Woltring is on her way to becoming a star, is obvious. Its not a matter of if, its a matter of when BACKLINE Lavalu is the first band to show that they can play anywhere: from small bars to huge festivals, in sun and rain, they dont mind: they always shine. 3VOOR12 VPRO Hollands Bjrk and more Erik Hartman, Radio 90FM Tags: pop
