For their debut, Surrender Avenue have drawn from a broad tapestry of musical influences to produce a record that mixes the best elements of power pop, classic country, and 60s garage rock into songs that are certain to surprise and entertain. 10 MP3 Songs POP: Power Pop, ROCK: Modern Rock Details: In addition to describing the Presidents summer reading list, ec-a-lec-tic is also the name of the first, full-length recording from Austin, Texas Surrender Avenue. For this recording, Surrender Avenue have drawn inspiration from a broad tapestry of musical influences --- The Beatles to Wilco, Radiohead to Johnny Cash, The Cure to Steve Earle --- to fashion a stylistically diverse collection of songs reflecting the character of a band that hates being pigeonholed into any one label or genre. From the guitar-driven beat of Beautiful Waste, the country-tinged balladry of Around, the keyboard-driven pop of A Matter of Fact, and the garage blast of Burning Baby Blue, ec-a-lec-tic reflects this character. Produced and recorded by Surrender Avenue in their home studio, and released in March, 2007, on the bands own Hamhands Recordings imprint, ec-a-lec-tic is a snapshot of a band starting to find its voice after a year of rehearsing, recording, and performing. Formed in the fall of 2005, Surrender Avenue combines the talents of Eric Bangle (vocals, guitar, and keyboards), James Kyle (drums, percussion, mandolin, and vocals), Billy Thogersen (bass, vocals) and Jason Kautz (guitar).
