Becky White is a poet, a mystic, a singer of songs, a lover of life, a voice of a new generation- inspired by hidden strains of ancient wisdom. Becky White grew up in Berkeley CA and New York City. The daughter of a writer, becky has written poems since the time she learned to hold a pen. She began playing her first instrument, the violin, at age 5. When she was 13 she began playing her first electric guitar. Soon her poetry began to weave into her music and her songs have proved to have a timeless mythic quality. Her voice is both dreamy and elemental with uplifting original lyrics reminiscent of the raw beauty of the world around us. Last Days of Empire was recorded by George Nardo (Luna Recording) mixed and produced by George Nardo and Becky White the Secret Mission mastered by George Horn, Fantasy Studios All original CD artwork by Nathan Pundt. for more info and show dates please see beckywhitemusic.org when Becky White the Secret Mission is not out on the road they reside in the Bay Area and the wild places of the west.
