The addictive blend of classic songwriting and edgy swagger is a soulful tip of the hat to the music Lauren listened to growing up in New Jersey: the sounds of Motown Aretha Franklin, the Jackson 5, and Gladys Knight; and the grooves of Philly Soul Gamble and Huff, Hall Oates, and the Hooters. Laurens return to her roots was sparked by performances with the legendary Funk Brothers of Motown fame, and the Philadelphia-based hip-hop/steel guitar band Slo-Mo, which she joined two years ago. Said Lauren, I kept thinking, when do I have the most fun? Where am I at my best? When am I able to make that magical connection with an audience? It became very clear to me. Like most people looking for their truth, you come full circle just to find out you were probably on the right track all along. Good Things was produced by Tony Reyes at Maze Studios in Atlanta. An undeniably talented producer/musician/songwriter who played bass in Laurens band earlier in his career, Reyes has worked with Joss Stone, Gnarles Barkley, Gwen Stefani, Janet Jackson, Christina Aguilera, Elliot Yamin and Shakira. The album was masterfully engineered by Carlton Lynn, whose impressive collaborations include Collective Soul, TLC, Pink, Ashanti, Usher and Aretha Franklin. I wanted this music to feel great, says Lauren. It does. Good Things is the perfect showcase for the power, range and emotion of Laurens voice. Ive let go of any fear I had of over-singing Im no longer holding back. I wrote this album for my voice. I wrote what feels good. I closed my eyes, I pictured looking into the eyes of others, and singing the words that would move them. It stopped being about crafting the perfect song mechanically. Good Things is about capturing the emotion of that very moment. While the groove is the thing on this CD, there is a message, and the tongue-in-cheek High Times is an ideal example. I wanted to write about the conversations I have on any given day, and usually, they revolve around what the #&* is going on in the world. I never wanted to be a preacher, but as an artist, its hard not to want to express these feelings in your work. This is the most pivotal time in Americas history since Ive been alive. And music isnt showing it. Maybe it wouldnt have to be an in-your-face-60s thing, but music is kinda hiding out in a nice, shiny place hoping no one will notice. Always known for her introspective lyrics and soaring vocals, Laurens songs have been heard on television series and soap operas including Joan of Arcadia, Party of Five, All My Children and One Life to Live, and her critically acclaimed National Anthem is featured in the Disney feature film Miracle. Lauren sings the National Anthem before every Philadelphia Flyers home game, a tribute to her late father, legendary National Hockey League Hall of Fame announcer Gene Hart, known for 30 years as The Voice of the Flyers. She has performed at the Presidential Inauguration, where she shared the stage with Bill Clinton, and on the French Riviera, where she lived for several years, performing for such artists as Stan Getz, the Gipsy Kings, Harry Belafonte and Frank Sinatra. In the U.S., she has appeared on the CBS Morning Show from New York City, and opened for Fiona Apple, Tori Amos, Train and 10,000 Maniacs. Lauren is currently recording a song for the new documentary Casualties of War: The Homeless Veteran, and just completed filming the television pilot, Audition Booth, as the host of this new music and arts outlet. Laurens passion for music is matched only by her passion for the charitable organizations she is committed to the Gene Hart Memorial Fund, Echoes Foundation, and ONE. Please visit the World section of this web site to learn about these extraordinary organizations. Lauren sits on the Board of Governors of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (Grammy Awards), the Advisory Board of the Pennsylvania Hospital Cancer Center, and is an honorary Board member of the Leukemia Lymphoma Society, Southern New Jersey Chapter. In 2007, Lauren was honored by the Society with its prestigious Person of the Year Award. People who are interested in James Morrison Corinne Bailey Rae Sara Bareilles should consider this download.
