Details: One hundred and forty eight years ago one nation became divided and a struggle that tore the young country apart ensued. Soldiers learned that they had to find places within themselves to merely survive. They carried a burden few will ever know. Much of the suffering lay with the loved ones at home only hoping for shreds of news and hopes their sons and husbands would soon be home. Much of the music here in this disc is inspired by musicians who have found inspiration in the memory of that time. Some of the music existed then and was played at campfires along the battle front. Nowhere else can you find such an amazing collection of songs that pay tribute and bring the feelings of those that lived at that time within our hearts and minds today. These are some of America's best and brightest musicians playing these great songs of Americana. You will find incredible performances and outstanding lyrics that will be an important part of your collection. From the traditional 'Amazing Grace' to the battlefield memoirs of Cemetery Ridge -- you will find many new favorites. Check out the samples and you will agree these songs are outstanding tributes to both the 'gray and the blue'.
