The CD came out on Gold Castle/Capitol Records (the same folk music label that at that time featured renaissance artists like Bruce Cockburn, Joan Baez, Peter, Paul and Mary, and Don McLean). See press excerpts below. The CD received radio airplay in numerous American cities, and the video for the song "White Boy Raving" was aired on MTV and other music video shows. It made Billboard Magazine's Top Twenty Video List. You can see it on Youtube at youtube.com/watch?v=76rGHf1IjTM. Kurt Wolf, San Francisco Bay Guardian Every once in a while an album comes along with lyrics so wondrous, so vital, that they should be scripted on parchment, bound in fine leather and handed out . . . Darius -- songwriter or poet? Robert J. Hawkins, San Diego Union Tribune Hearing Hollywoods poet laureate in concert is always a treat . . . his lyrical abilities are still unsurpassed. Rich Robinson, Los Angeles Reader Cardboard Confessional is a veritable cornucopia of bright, lyrical wit and intelligently crafted songs . . . Darius is a unique talent.

Richard Foss, L.A. Reader and Bam Magazine Five fingers (highest rating) . . . a breath of fresh air in a sea of smog, an LP that would surely hit if less of us were so into the me generation, though it still might.
