Details: Christmas is just around the corner and well-known Malaysian jazz stalwarts David Gomes Junji Delfino are all set to send you in the holiday mood with their first-ever Christmas jazz album, aptly entitled, Its Christmas Time Again. Produced under their own label, Catalyst Records, this maiden album is a collection of twelve tunes, of which five are their very own original compositions. David Gomes Junji Delfino are very much established names in the Kuala Lumpur Singapore jazz scene. David is not only a versatile pianist but he is a talented singer, a gifted composer arranger, and a dedicated bandleader to all of the jazz outfits he heads, whether they be as small as a Trio to as big as a 13-piece Orchestra. His is an established name in prestigious jazz festivals locally and internationally. Davids main squeeze, wife of 17 years, Junji, is equally captivating as a vocalist. A true jazz performer, a cut above the rest, she possesses a vocal style that many find mesmerizing. Her voice control, impeccable diction phrasing and self-assured flair on the stage coupled with her flawless command of the microphone as an instrument rather than a method of amplification makes for a truly gripping sound experience.
