Progressive Hip hop, new style, My own new style no ones heard 10 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: East Coast, HIP HOP/RAP: Spiritual Rap Details: To make a long story short I was born in June 1991, Danbury, CT and grew up there till I was about 6. Growing up Art and music were very important to me. I had a lot of history with music in my family such as singers, musicians and artists in my family tree. This was a cultural influence made me what I am today. I lived in Florida afterwords for two years in 1999. During this transition my brother and I went in a different direction mentality wise. As he grew into a more preppy proper kid, I turned into a more rebelious hip hop star-- later I moved to Brazil, where my mother's family is from, for a year and a half. I spent most of my time being outdoors with friends, and learning other instruments where I was exposed to playing in a band. Writing and creating always was my thing. All the changes in environment enriched my life, which comes out in my rap music, lets me express myself and feeds my flame. This is the struggle to find where I'm really supposed to be. This biography isn't in depth because I feel not all things from good to bad to best to worst should be revealed now, but eventually it will be revealed on my journey to realize my dream of being a renounced rap star. My family and friends support me and that gives me strength to continue in my career.
