Details: Jo Alexis Bronstein (vocal, piano percussion) Singing, writing and playing music has been Jos lifeblood through her Philadelphia childhood, her Providence years at Brown University and through seven years in the music scene in Los Angeles. As a professionally educated trained musician, Jo Alexis has amassed a catalogue of over 150 songs from past and present projects. Her independently released CD, Connection received favorable radio airplay on over 140 college radio stations nationwide. Recently, Jos single, I Sing For You was chosen for the Bridges CD, released by Pacific Oncology in 2007. In her new CD, Animal Tea Party, written with Arlie Conner, the uplifting and heartfelt songs will bring joy to parents and children alike. Arlie Conner (vocals guitars) A graduate of the School of Music, University of Oregon, Arlie was busy being an optics inventor and LCD expert (famous in Japan!) until recently when he was inspired to write some rock and roll songs for his friends. He played in the Paul Anthony Band at venues including the Aladdin Theater and Pioneer Square. Arlie released his first CD, Countin On You in August 2006.
