Details: Confucius said, A craftsman, if he wishes to do good work, must first sharpen his tools. That being said, SLY JOE's music is honed like an acupuncture needle. It gets in deep under your skin, demands your attention, then leaves you feeling good all over. Since his musical debut in first grade, Sly Joe's been sharpening his skills on the international stage for over 20 years, sharing audiences with the likes of TRAIN, T.S. MONK, JACKSON BROWNE, GILLIAN WELCH, EMMYLOU HARRIS, JOHN PRINE in venues such as HARD ROCK CAF-(Beijing), THE LOTUS-(Koh Tao), LAMBEAU FIELD-(Green Bay), WAMI AWARDS SHOW-(Milwaukee), LEACH AMPITHEATER-(Oshkosh), and numerous festivals, halls, and coffeeshops from coast to coast. After a tragic car accident in high school left him hospitalized and took a friend's life, he began approaching songwriting more seriously, and more sensitively. "Songs communicate feelings, and I tend to write mostly about love and positivity. When a song expresses these feelings, it attracts more of the same." Sly Joe's songs have earned him musical residencies in Thailand, San Francisco, and throughout the Fox Valley. Hundreds of college and mainstream radio stations, independent films, and Podcasts across the globe have also found his songs to be a perfect fit. Performing over 100 times a year and crafting memorable songs has certainly drawn some attention. He's attracted over 20,000 plays on Myspace and iTunes this year. "The most soulful musician in the Valley." Editor, Scene Newspaper "Fans of fresh indie pop-rock with a splash of rebellion and a penchant for a good time will dig it." -Buddyhollywood.com
