

Medical Education For The Future

DOWNLOAD HERE

Chapter 10: Place matters: location in medical education- Introduction- Where are we in medical education?- Hospital architectures and cognitive architectures - The white cube - Work-based learning: vocation as location and deterritorialization- Chapter 11: Learning by simulation and the simulation of learning- An age of simulation- Theory of simulation: classical to postmodern- Strengths and weaknesses of learning by simulation- The simulation project: will a dialogue emerge between simulation and work-based learning?- Chapter 12: Global medical education a post-colonial dilemma- Imperialism by the back door?- Comparative education- Is western medical education infectious?- Flaws in the global medical education vision- Global, local, or glocal ? The trade in knowledge as a commodity- From reinforcing the colonial legacy to challenging the colonial gaze- Empire and forms of resistance- PART THREE: MEDICAL EDUCATION RESEARCH A DEMOCRATISING FORCE FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION- Chapter 13: Let s get real: medical students learning from, with and about patients- Productive forms of the medical encounter- Towards an authentic patient-centred medical education- Learning from the past- Medical students learning from patients, supported by clinical teachers: a new vintage- Patient, medical student and doctor exchanges in medical education- Chapter 14: Texts, authoring and reading in medical education- The text is produced, not given (doing, talking and reading in the patient encounter)- Kinds of text in reading patients: a summary model- Text is not an answer, but a question- Problem-based learning or patient-based learning?Evidence for the value of a triadic model- Chapter 15: Lack, trajectories and ruptures in medical education research- Medical education research at a crossroads- Origins of medical education research- A five-point agenda for improving medical education research- Chapter 16: A framework for medical education research: cultures, contexts and concepts.- Identity, power and location revisited- Cultures- Contexts- Concepts- Landscape- Bibliography- IndexContents- Acknowledgements- Introduction- PART ONE: MEDICAL EDUCATION A DEMOCRATISING FORCE FOR MEDICINE- Chapter 1: Medical education as patient- Not prophecy, but spotting trends- Medical education in an historical key- Crossroads and crisis: how is the patient? - The symptom may be the education in medical education, while the cure may be a new approach to education

- Chapter 2: Beyond practical reasoning- From critical thinking to practical reasoning: a necessary but not sufficient change in medical education- A new wave of medical education thinking Good enough is not good enough- Chapter 3: Learning from learning theory- To the things themselves- Where s the sense in medical education? - revisiting practical knowing- Chapter 4: Socio-cultural learning theories - Learning from history- Three approaches to learning- Miller lite- Contrasting metaphors for learning- Activity theory - Cognitive apprenticeship and distributed cognition- Dynamicist learning and complexity - Systems thinking and learning- Conclusions - PART TWO: IDENTITY, POWER AND LOCATION IN MEDICAL EDUCATION- Chapter 5: Producing doctors- What is identity ?- From the identity of medical student to the identity of doctor : can learning theory illuminate this transition?- Actor-Network-Theory (ANT)- Communities of Practice (COP)- Cultural-historical Activity Theory (CHAT)- Chapter 6: New forms of identity in a runaway world of medicine- Can the centre hold?- The doctor as diagnostician, symptomatologist and connoisseur- The doctor at work in the 21st century: emergence of new identities such as the medical citizen. - Chapter 7: The medical educator and the clinical teacher- Unpicking the threads- A framework for discussing the identity of the medical educator- Using social learning theory frameworks to identify the medical educator and clinical teacher - Chapter 8: Identity construction of the medical educator through learning and writing - Introduction- Identity defined by philosophy of teaching and learning: student-centredness and democracy in the classroom and clinic- A literary perspective on identities of the medical educator- Chapter 9: Power in medical education- Bodies of power- Sovereign, capillary, virtue, and virtual power- EAN/ISBN : 9789048196920 Publisher(s): Springer, Berlin, Springer Science & Business Media Discussed keywords: Gesundheitsberufe Format: ePub/PDF Author(s): Bleakley, Alan - Bligh, John - Browne, Julie

DOWNLOAD HERE

Similar manuals:

[Bluckdruckmessung Nach Riva Rocci \(Unterweisung Gesundheitsberufe\):
Unterweisungsvorbereitung - Anna Federlein](#)