Details: Brian Jamar Todd was born on May 24, 1988, in Birmingham, Alabama. Brian began singing in the Oliver Elementary school choir when he was six years old. His first musical venture was with his two brothers, Brandon and Byron, as they formed a group called "B- Boyz" to perform in the elementary school talent show. Brian continued singing in the Elementary School choir, went on to perform in the Banks Middle School Choir and later joined the Woodlawn High School Choir. When the 18-year-old Todd hooked up with Promoter Bennie Mac founder of Mac Man Entertainment and Promotions his dream of a record deal became attainable. As Brian learned the art of the Music industry from Bennie Mac and Producer Cano Cain, Bennie Mac arranged for Brian to receive professional vocal training with Vocal Coach Kaylon Bettis and dance lessons from local choreographers. With a well together development team put together by manager Bennie Mac and a group of supporters , Brian began writing and recording his first single "Light it Up" that would later become the groundbreaking hit off his debut Album "Swagger of an R&B Artist". Brian began promoting himself and made some waves with second single "Chillin". The album "Swagger of an R&B Artist" debuted in 2009 and is now distributed in record stores. Brian Todd's life inspirations are his mother Tracey Pierce and his manager Bennie Mac.
