Hard driving traditional bluegrass with a few contemporary themes thrown in for good measure. 14 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Bluegrass, GOSPEL: Traditional Gospel Details: Williams Clark Expedition could be described by some as a new band on the bluegrass scene. But when you consider the members of the group are Blake Williams, Bobby Clark, Wayne Southards and Kimberly Williams, you know this is not a group of newcomers. All have very impressive musical credentials, having worked for the musics forefathers, Bill Monroe and Lester Flatt, to some of the earlier bluegrass bands, The Bluegrass Cardinals and Tennessee Gentlemen, to even the artists who have just become popular in the last couple of decades like Mike Snider, Kathy Chiavola and Larry Cordle. No one can deny the bluegrass pedigree of Williams Clark Expeditions members. What is surprising to most, is the band voice that was created when these talented people formed this band just over 4 years ago. In a very short time, they have gone from a band no one knew, to one of bluegrass musics most requested groups in the genre. Soon after word got out about the bands good business sense and truly unique entertaining style, some folks in Franklin, KY approached them about helping to establish and host the Franklin Music Festival. The event is now in its 3rd year and is not only hosted by the band, but is also co-produced by the Expedition and has featured some of the greatest talent in bluegrass music and a few outside the realm such as Vince Gill and Marty Stuart. In 2004 they were the only bluegrass act to perform for the Country Gold Music Festival in Kumamoto, Japan alongside country artist Darryl Worley and Blue County, which resulted in a feature story on GACs Country Music Across America, hosted by Storme Warren. But the band received its top accolade thus far when the International Bluegrass Music Association chose them as one of 5 nominees for Emerging Artist Of The Year in 2005. And in 2006, the National Society For The Preservation Of Bluegrass Music In America nominated Blake Williams in int he "Entertainer Of The Year"

category. To date, the band has released 4 CDs and they will be on the road approximately 100 days in 2006 alone. They were also nominated in 2005 for the International Bluegrass Music Association's "Emerging Artist Of The Year". It is no mystery why this band is becoming so popular so quickly. They offer superb musicianship, hauntingly tight harmonies, traditional and contemporary lead vocal styles, original material, humor, and history in every performance. And each member is as personable as they are talented, believing the audience comes first. They do everything they can to show that, from their stage performances, to the lively conversation with any and all who want to visit afterwards. It really is quite simple Williams Clark Expedition loves what they do and it shows!!! Marty Raybon states this about Williams Clark Expedition: "I have always believed the entertainment business should be about entertainment. Now days, in Bluegrass music especially, you find a lot of groups that can go up and down the neck of any instrument they pick up. That is a gift and it took time to perfect. But entertainers are those who build a bridge from the front of the stage to the front row. As their appearance continues, there is a steady crossing of rapport from the entertainer to the audience. Here enters Williams and Clark Expedition. This is the whole package! They will take you from one emotion to another while they sprinkle in home spun humor and youve not even realized that the hour of performance has come and gone. Entertainment does that. Williams and Clark Expedition has mastered it!"
