Make no mistake about it, making money writing articles can be tremendously profitable. But the real money, the consistent money, the massive profits, come from your list. List building is one area where size really does matter, the bigger your list, the bigger your income. And the better your squeeze page, the higher your opt in percentages. A squeeze page is web page where people sign into your list. The primary (first) link in all of my articles will point to my squeeze page. With each article I write, I have two goals in mind. My primary goal is to entice them to opt into my list. I always offer a free report of some kind toward this goal. My second objective is to offer some sort of promotional sale item with each article. Granted, only a very small percentage of people will make a purchase after seeing a single article, but it is money just the same. Tags: 7, for, squeeze, page
