Here's what's being said across the country about Lee's music "...Post's sound is as much "the Boss" (Springsteen) and Van Morrison as it is Otis Redding and Al Green: blue-collar heartland grit mixed with Motor City soul..." Simeon Flick of The San Diego Troubadour "...Music that is soulful and bluesy with home grown inspiration, with lyrics that resonate of someone who is grounded in family and faith..." - Balentine Productions, Florida "...Here is a big, big urgent voice parked somewhere between the dark growls of Eddie Vedder (Pearl Jam) and soulful pleas of Eddie Kendricks (Temptations)..." Frederick Leonard of The San Diego Troubadour "...Lee Tyler Post; From the heart of Texas. Bluesy, rock oriented, folk inspired, soulful, unique, and just plain cool..." - Gary Hays, Nashville Club Owner (Hobo Joe's) "...Throw the imagio of Johnny Cash, the vocal clarity of Edwin McCain, and Dylan-esque lyrics, and somewhere in the beat is Lee..." - Michael Shear of the New York Overview "...This is the type of music that talks to your soul. Acoustic guitar based, rock style ballads, that tell the story of your own life, as if Lee had spent his life - writing yours!..." Billy Jones of IdleHandsMagin North Carolina "... think of a wittier and more inventive Bob Seger ..." - Weekly Planet, Tampa FL "...Post has a voice that can jump from refined polish to raw emotion and back without breaking a sweat the way Phoebe Snow skips from octave to octave..." - Virginia Debolt of MusicAustin.com
