Banjos. a new batch of alternative country done in a trippy Slacker manner with tasty lyrics and stuff. Great as a Soundtrack to your next ride on the GanjaTrain. 20 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, COUNTRY: Country Rock Details: Our Sophomore offering with better equipment and slower jams. Much of the conceptual bits were inspired by a particularly strong batch of Billy's moonshine that has the odd effect of keeping one up for two days and the need to pick. If you dig acoustic folk with a weird twist, grab your shovel. The byProduct of Plasticine Porter resembles Post Modern Mountain Music. The minimalist sounds of string pickers just a-hangin out on the porch bonding musically in what certain circles refer to as a Jam. So get off your ass and join us. Buy this batch of tunes and contact us to set up an appointment on Your Porch. Our music is Deconstructionism. Where other string bands blend 4, 5 and 6-stringed boxes into a stew, we take it apart and present each texture on your plate all pink and naked. That is the essence of Plasticine Porter, that is the sound of banjo-infused psychedelic Americana. If you like Earl Scruggs, Bill Monroe, Doc Watson or the Foggy Bottom boys; you will hate Plasticine Porter. If you have ever drank too much moonshine and needed to stick you finger down your throat, you will get it. We are the finger. Our music is something that you may not want, but, by God, you need. Now more than ever let Plasticine Porter give you the finger. Bon Appetit.
