Improvisations on West African and American Mardi Gras tunes, using funky acoustic instruments. Traditional songs with an occasional original song thrown in to good effect. 12 MP3 Songs in this album (52:41) ! Related styles: WORLD: African Folk, FOLK: Free-folk People who are interested in Grateful Dead Roswell Rudd should consider this download. Details: This five-member band has a remarkable chemistry. Their unusual instrumentation blends into a unified sound that has not been heard before. Lots of good jamming, some of it high-energy, some of it reflective, and occasionally revealing some very original songwriting. Very much a party band that strives to bring the American Mardi Gras spirit wherever it plays. Based around the tuba and trombone with it's suggestion of the streets of New Orleans, along with the balafon (an African xylophone) bringing to bear the West African influence, guitar (acoustic), giving it a folk flavor, and percussion (drum set and djembe). This band gives free rein to it's jamming proclivities in exploring the sonic and acoustic possibilities of it's instrumentation and personalities. It is an adventuresome group!
