Related styles: ELECTRONIC: Pop Crossover, POP: with Electronic Production Details: Spookydubois at Corfe Castle (Part I) It's 1650 AD and at enigmatic Corfe Castle in the County of Dorset England a curse is lifted during a lunar eclipse to awaken Spookydubois with amnesia. For several years, 'Dark Lord' Maltravers has ruled a tyrannical terror on the villagers and now alerted by this unexpected resurgence, a troop of malicious Parliamentarians is dispatched with capture orders to stop Spookydubois from reaching the village clock tower. Scaling the village clock tower walls in escape she reverses the clock hands to grab the 'Miracle Cross' in critical time as the total eclipse occurs and this sends her and the troops back in time through a whirlwind of raining caterpillars, arriving in an underground cathedral in Southern France. Guided by the 'Blind Raven' and butterfly messengers, she embarks on an epic quest, following a dangerous trail of clues in search of her destiny. Her first clue is to dream of a son, her 'Little Prince' - the butterfly messengers are sent to find him... ----- Written in action fantasy movie-style, Spookydubois at Corfe Castle is the first episode of a trilogy, each song portraying a scene of different characters in action. ----- Margaux fell in love with Corfe Castle 10 years ago when its impact caused a compelling desire to write a story; the result is a fascinating fictional tale of action, fantasy, passion, love, power and betrayal; good fighting evil in what Margaux calls her very special 'musical movie'. margauxmusic.com
