Eclectic Soul as sexy as it is thought provoking 1 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: Urban, ELECTRONIC: House Details: On his debut album, singer/songwriter and producer Mr Boyd reexamines faith and love through his relationships with women. At What Cost is the first single from that album. Due Summer 2008. Mr Boyd wrote and produced the entire album, playing all guitars and many other musical instruments himself. He also enlisted the help of several established and up-and-coming musicians and vocalists from the New York music scene. Listen closely and you'll hear the musical influences of Prince, Sting, Portishead, The Beatles, Lauryn Hill, Marvin Gaye, Sade, Bob Marley, Quincy Jones, Kanye West, Kirk Franklin and Outkast come through in his own unique sound. "These are only some of the artists I have on heavy rotation. I think that's how most music lovers are. Most people create their own eclectic music programming with mp3 players, satellite radio stations, and on-demand music stations. I didn't want to lose that element of variety, surprise, and excitement while listening to this album," he adds. I really wanted the production of the album to look into the future while carrying the varying textures and moods that have influenced me and so many others over the past 20 years, he says, I also wanted it to feel like life today. Part computerized, and part organic; Part dramatic and part comical; with spiritual and political underpinnings at every turn. People who are interested in OutKast Marvin Gaye Maxwell should consider this download.
