Upbeat yet edgy bluegrass music from the hills of Northern Minnesota. TMB matches honest lyrics with fleet footed banjo tunes for the dancing fools in all of us. 11 MP3 Songs in this album (35:28) ! Related styles: FOLK: Appalachian Folk, COUNTRY: Bluegrass People who are interested in Trampled by Turtles Ricky Skaggs Gillian Welch should consider this download. Details: For their third full length CD Duluth, MNs own Two Many Banjos once again enlisted Rich Mattson (2006 Minnesota music award producer of the year) to produce the set in his Iron Range studio. As opposed to their sophomore effort Trouble in Paradise these songs are more upbeat, playful and full of life. The songs were recorded live with minimal overdubs albeit the occasional tambourine or shaker accompaniment. Give Me Time will be released October 7, 2008. The band members are the same as always with the exception of the mighty Steve Garrington (Low, Retribution Gospel Choir) who filled in on upright duties while TMB resident bass player Karl Anderson took time off to raise a child. Marc Gartman once again wrote the material on the CD, Dave Carroll (Trampled By Turtles) brought along his finest 5 string prowess, Jillian Lantry cooked on her fiddle and percussion pro Lane Prekker (Charlie Parr) danced his fingers away on the washboard. Again, up to Sparta, MN they went and in one days time the record was done. The songs on Give Me Time are an eclectic bunch. The sounds of a band having fun just to be playing with one another are clear from Gartmans overheard countdown on track 1 and the pace keeps up throughout the entire disc. The good-humored Advice on Choosing the Right Mattress and Ditto Kiddo start the CD off on a cheerful note. The next couplet of tunes Give Me Time and God Forgives You delve into musical territory TMB had yet to venture on record; percussive, dark and grooving the music is folk but its rock, too. Raising Hell features the first acoustic guitar on a Two Many Banjos CD and also a blistering solo from guitar maestro Rich Mattson (Ol Yeller). Youre a Dreamboat tackles the musical styling of 1930s dance-hall with the hottest washboard solo this side of the washing machine. Crowd favorite Charlie Parr gets its (his?) recorded debut here, a nod to whom Alan Sparhawk calls one of the greatest musicians and human beings I know. Indeed. Give Me Time is the third CD in an ambitious songwriting workout that will see the band release 4 full lengths in two years time. Cant Slow Me Down will be recorded in October 2008 with Rich Mattson, to be released in April 2009. While this may mean their recording output will curb by no means will the band slow at all. The show will go on with more time on the road and less in the studio. Marc Gartman plans to release a solo record in the coming months and Daves Trampled By Turtles have their own CD that is set for release this fall.
