Outgrown These Walls is a new album that pairs Americana/Folk singer Caleb Stine with Hip-Hop Emcee/Producer Saleem Heggins. While it is an extremely unique and unlikely pairing, they are a viable example of the poetry and live instrumentation that still 10 MP3 Songs in this album (39:35) ! Details: In early 2008, I had an outlandish idea: Take two Baltimore musicians who had never heard of each other, pair them up and force them to write four original songs in six weeks. And the musicians I picked, Caleb Stine and Saleem Heggins, couldn't have come from more different backgrounds. Caleb was an Americana singer/songwriter; Saleem an MC who liked vintage hip-hop. But the friendship they forged and the songs they wrote in a matter of months are astounding. The first time Caleb and Saleem performed this music live, audience members teared up. Together, they have far exceeded the original challenge and created something truly compelling. -Sam Sessa, WTMD and The Baltimore Sun
