Details: Blood and Sunshine is the brainchild of San Francisco based producer/songwriter James Brennan. James started his music career in 2001, releasing quirky deep house records on labels such as Monkeystyle, Loopjunkie, and most notably, the legendary Toronto label Stickman Records. Blood and Sunshine is a far cry from James' earlier work. While still quirky, the emphasis here is on songcraft and story telling, the beats are a few BPMs slower, and the overall mood is decidedly darker. James has assembled a live band around the material on the EP and will be playing shows in San Francisco and along the west coast while finishing material for Blood and Sunshines first full length album.
