

The Shopocalypse (mp3 Album)

DOWNLOAD HERE

Epic, funky gospel sound with subversive lyrics to push back the consumer monoculture. These songs have been sung from sidewalks and jail cells. Sing along with your fellow activists or slip them into the late night party mix and start a revolution. 13 MP3 Songs in this album (57:15) ! Related styles:

URBAN/R&B: Soul, SPIRITUAL: Gospel Choir People who are interested in Aretha Franklin Sweet Honey in the Rock The Polyphonic Spree should consider this download. Details: Reverend Billy and the Life After Shopping Gospel Choir believe that Consumerism is overwhelming our lives. The corporations want us to have experiences only through their products. Our neighborhoods, "commons" places like stoops and parks and streets and libraries, are disappearing into the corporatized world of big boxes and chain stores. But if we "back away from the product" even a little bit, well then we Put The Odd Back In God! The supermodels fly away and we're left with our original sensuality. So we are singing and preaching for local economies and real not mediated through products experience. We like independent shops where you know the person behind the counter or at least you like them enough to share a story. We ask that local activists who are defending themselves against supermalls, nuke plants, gentrification call us and we'll come and put on our "Fabulous Worship!" Remember children... Love is a Gift Economy! The Rev

DOWNLOAD HERE

Similar manuals:

MP3 In Color - In Color \(the Lamp Album\)