Hip hop/R&B Gospel from an XM Radio favorite. 10 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: R&B Rap mix, SPIRITUAL: Christian Rap Show all album songs: Set Free Songs Details: Known in the D.C. area as one of the most versatile artists in Christian music, Holy Hip Hop and Contemporary Gospel Artist James Daniels is preparing for his third release, Set Free. Right on the heels of his blazing hot project, We Need You Now, which saw airplay on XM Radio's Spirit 33, Daniels returns with brand new musical offering. Slated to hit record store shelves on September 4, 2007, Set Free is an eclectic mix of urban gospel music suited to soothe the soul of the hurting or lost. Featuring the lead single Believer, the project showcases Daniels as a proficient rapper complemented with thoughtful and reflective lyrics. With help from vocalist Liz Adams, the lyricist raps over a thick beat and a catchy hook declaring the awesomeness and the faithfulness of God. Stepping from MC to vocalist, Real, another strong urban cut, opens with a well-known scripture, Psalm 118:24, This is the day that the LORD has made; I will rejoice and be glad in it. Don't Pass Me By grabs the listener from beat one as Daniels sings about the need for God. Other strong cuts include the bouncy, inspiring Hold On, the slamming What's Your Position and the CD's title tune, a hip hop masterpiece featuring Ason. Daniels, a native from Chicago and current D.C. area resident, has been singing since he was a youth. He's backed artists like Kim Kelly, a group created by Be Encouraged sensation William Becton, and opened for KJ-52 Byron Cage, Canton Jones and Fred Hammond. Although his musical beginnings started in the traditional church - he grew up at Trinity UCC, Rev. Jeremiah Wright's church - he later realized that the people he was called to reach were listening to more contemporary styles of music. That revelation led him to connect with underground Christian Hip Hop artists Ason, Kyana, Excelsius, DKUN Frost and J-Mac. Daniels is passionate about touching the lives of the people around him. He says, We have a wonderful opportunity everyday to be ministers of the Gospel and we don't know what a word from God will do to those around us. It is my sincerest hope that God will use me in such a way that people will come to know Him in a more personal way. Whether it is on a national or local level, I want to take what God has given me and give it back to His people. For me, that is the real blessing. The gift is in giving God and His people the very best."
