The most "feel-good" acoustic music you can buy is now available. Using theme park sound effects like the unique steam train engine 7, wooden roller coasters, and water park attractions, this old time themed CD is a must have. 17 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Bluegrass, FOLK: Traditional Folk Details: Rise of Silver, Wood Steel: Who are these guys? The story of the music goes something like this: the decision was made to record an album of acoustic music using sound effects of all the audible memories Silverwood Theme Park has to offer including: Tremors, and Timber Terror roller coasters, The steam train; Engine 7, and various other memorable sounds. Anthony then crafted custom instruments in the fashion of centennial times, including the American Harp Guitar, and Wooden Banjo. Some instruments were actually constructed using salvaged mahogany wood from the train itself! Traditional and original songs were then written, arranged, and recorded with themes of Victorian Old West/Americana and, even newer, Urban Acoustic. Finally reunited, their old friend, cohort and fiddle champ, Avery Anderson flew back home to evaluate and lace the rhythm tracks. They finished it all off with great detail and care to the design, graphics and digital mastering of this brilliant CD. Silver, Wood and Steel: Engine 7 is a full length acoustic bluegrass CD and goes on sale at Silverwood Theme Park and locally June 2nd for the 2006 season.
