A downtempo record of Saturday night slow jams and 3 AM heartaches. Perfect for late-night sets and chilling out. 12 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Down Tempo, ELECTRONIC: Breakbeat/Breaks Show all album songs: Slow Jam Tape For An Ex-Girlfriend Songs Details: Having honed his chops spinning jazz and electronic mixed sets in various clubs and underground sets, Tiki Cocoa brings a notable ear for various musical traditions to his full-length debut, blending up a groove that is both accessible to the ear and complex to the heart. His trademark "rewind" technique - flipping the rhythm and tone of a song halfway through - is in full effect here, as he strives to capture the essence of love, hate and everything in-between. This theme album captures the first blush, gut-wrenching break-up, and freeing reconciliation of a relationship. From the stuttering sensations of "Pearberry Ponytail Kissing Coma", the dreamy longing of "The Poem on Your Thigh" and the pain-wracked drum-n-bass flavor of "Because I Hate You" (featuring the first lady of BAPMusic - Diva Baby), this record "goes there". Tiki Cocoa - the resident groove impresario of the Black Air Press Music label - comes bursting out the gates with a full-length debut filled with more slow burns, martini spills and pure-dee slow jam weirdness than most any other record sporting the downtempo moniker this year. This album features the theme song - "Pearberry Ponytail Kissing Coma" used by the DJ collective, Scott's Groove Locker!
