From as early as I can remember there was music in my house. When I was small I can remember Friday night worship with my dad and older brother playing their guitars and the whole family singing songs together. Those are some of my fondest memories." Jennifer began singing at the age of ten. A shy child by nature, she felt a deep yearning to sing for God. Barely able to see over the podium, Jennifer bravely sang her first solo in public. And from that moment began a life of music ministry. People took notice of the young girl who had a voice mature beyond her years. And she was soon being asked to come and sing for different churches across Texas. By the age of 14, Jennifer had already sung at numerous camp meetings, youth rallies, evangelistic meetings, and many other events. Many of these had over 5000 people in attendance. Though Jennifer dreamed of one day becoming a professional singer. God was saying, "Wait." "I know that God still had some work to do in me. And He wanted to mature me so that I would be better equipped to minister for Him." Jennifer married at a young age and put her singing career on hold and moved to Jacksonville, Florida, where her husband was stationed in the Navy. While there, she was involved in the music at the church she attended. And was given the opportunity to sing for some evangelistic meetings being held by Ron Halvorson Sr., a well known evangelist. The crowd responded to her rendition of "In the Name of the Lord" with a standing ovation. After their stint in Florida, Jennifer and her Husband and then 3month old daughter, Alison moved back to Texas, where she began doing concerts with her dad, Harry Adams, who was a pastor in the Houston area. She and her dad made an album together titled, "I Sing Because" in 1998. But circumstances would once again put things on hold for a while... A couple of years later, Jennifer welcomed the birth of her second child, Sean. The duties of being a wife and mother to two small children took priority. And she once again put her singing career on hold. In 2001 Jennifer was asked to sing for a Houston area camp meeting which featured Doug Batchelor, a well known TV evangelist. This was recorded and later aired on 3ABN. Soon after, Jennifer again, felt the strong call from God to use the talents that he had given her, for His work. She began using her voice again for the Lord. But again things were going to have to be put on hold... In 2003 Jennifer and her family received the news that her beloved mother was diagnosed with cancer that had metastasized to the bone. This was a huge blow. Jennifer was hopeful and prayed unceasingly for the healing of her precious mother, her best friend. But God in His infinite wisdom , does not see things how we do, and allowed her mother to fall asleep on December 21, 2003. To say the least she was devastated. And was left with so many questions. " At that time I became angry with God. I didn't speak to Him for months. I couldn't understand how He could just let her die like that. I prayed so hard. I believed with all my heart that He would heal her." "But God is so patient with all of us and He soon let me realize that His ways are not my ways. And that I was not grieving for my mother, but for myself, and my loss. I know that my mom was right with God and I will see her again on that glorious day when Christ returns." So with a new found understanding of God's love and mercy, Jennifer once again committed herself to His service. In 2004, Jennifer was able to record her first solo CD project which featured many of the songs that have brought a blessing to her life. With the release of this album God has opened up so many doors for her ministry. " I pray that God will use me and use this album to touch the hearts of people that are hurting. I feel that if I can just touch one soul through my music then I will have done what God has called me to do." Jennifer will continue to minister in song and word wherever the Lord chooses to send.
