 Here is a personal message from Stephanie: As a songwriter, I wish to convey an appreciation of life, with music offering a reflection of the past in the present moment. I frequently refer to time in my songs as a reminder that who we are and who we wish to become is in that constant awareness of what we are given. I am filled with memories of those who have contributed to the person I am now. They provide a constant inspiration for my lyrics, which reach out to the listener with a new, yet familiar, touch. Mine is a unique point of view, filled with both solace and celebration. I am also a student and teacher of yoga, which reminds me of both my mortality and my belief in all that can be good in humanity. In yoga as in music, I seek both the human and the divine. My goal is to reflect this combination in the songs that I write. In all, there is nothing as powerful as love, and I am grateful that I may offer you my CD, "Home", as a gift of love.
