A collection of lullabies; a tranquil blend of two harps, flute, and cello. This recording makes a nice baby gift, and children of all ages enjoy the soothing, peaceful music. 13 MP3 Songs KIDS/FAMILY: Lullabies, KIDS/FAMILY: General Children's Music Details: NOTES In 1989, Tami Briggs, an accomplished pianist, began playing the harp. After six months of lessons and daily practice, she began performing at weddings, dinner parties, holiday gatherings, and church services. Her affinity for this unique instrument was present from the beginning, as she personally felt its healing properties and watched people's positive reactions. She saw the harp magically relax, soothe, and comfort listeners. It was this experience of watching others' reactions to the harp that motivated Tami to study at the International Harp Therapy Program (IHTP). There participants learn how to take the harp into hospitals, hospices, and nursing homes. After completing the IHTP, Tami eventually overcame her life long fear of hospitals and began playing at the bedside. She has played for patients with a wide variety of illnesses. Tami has been privileged to witness many examples of the healing power of therapeutic harp music. * When she plays medical staff frequently comment, "I didn't administer any additional medical therapies and the patient's vital signs just improved." * Upon "awakening" from a 30-day coma (Tami played on Day 23), a middle-aged man spoke of not remembering anything except hearing harp music. * Summoned by the family of a dying man, Tami was asked to play while he transitioned from this life to the next. He died while she was playing. While other cultures have used complementary care modalities for years, the United States is just beginning to recognize how music (and other complementary care therapies) can augment the healing process. Because of music's potency and power, it can be used to help heal, connect, and support. Tami is the founding principal of Musical Reflections, a company whose mission is to provide therapeutic music to facilitate healing, transformational growth, and well-being for those experiencing life transitions. BIOGRAPHY Tami Briggs, founding principal of Musical Reflections, Inc., is a therapeutic harpist, composer, recording artist, and national speaker. She has played the harp at the bedside of hundreds of hospital and hospice patients, using her musical experience and her clinical training to address the immediate needs of the patient, the patient's loved ones, and the professional staff. Tami is currently involved in a scientific research study measuring the benefits of live harp music on oncology patients. A dynamic facilitator and presenter, she works with both large and small groups educating them about the healing properties of harp music. She has completed 11 CDs; Grace Notes: Reflections on the Harp and Healing is her first book. WHAT LISTENERS HAVE SAID ABOUT "CRADLED ON WINGS OF LOVE": "My son goes to sleep with this music every night! It helps him relax and sleep more soundly." "A friend introduced me to your Cradled on Wings of Love CD. I'm an instant fan! Wonderful!" "I'm listening to Cradled on Wings of Love as I write this. Your beautiful playing is filling my apartment and my heart. Thank you so much for sending it."
