A cappella folk powerhouse. Three women blending their voices in perfect harmony, creating a rich tapestry of sound. 14 MP3 Songs FOLK: Traditional Folk, WORLD: Celtic Details: The Muses are a three woman a cappella powerhouse group based in Asheville, North Carolina. In "Celtic Hillbilly Soul", The Muses' second release, Natalie Grinnell, Gail Forsyth and Judy Rhodes get back to their roots. The soaring vocal harmonies in this rousing collection of a cappella music will give you goosebumps. The Muses combine original, traditional Appalachian, Celtic and soulful selections in this new CD. At once moving, amusing and fresh, each song will leave you inspired. Track Selections: Layering in vocal percussion and soulful vocals, The Muses' rendition of "Inner City Blues" does Marvin Gaye proud! Fans of beautiful Celtic song will enjoy Gail's Scots vocals on the peaceful track "Gloomy Winter's Noo Awa". The traditional Appalachian song "In My Time of Dyin'" showcases Natalie Grinnell's soulful voice. Judy Rhodes' scathing political commentary finds voice in "Brainwash Me Baby". Perhaps we should submit this to the Democratic Party as the anthem of their next convention?! More about The Muses' members: Judy Rhodes' family has lived in the Western North Carolina area since the early 1700s. Her deep knowledge of the culture and music of the area add richness to the group. Gail Forsyth hails from Aberdeen, Scotland but has found a home away from home in Appalachia. Her lovely, nuanced voice brings Celtic song alive. Natalie Grinnell, our resident diva, is originally from Durham, NC via Omaha, Nebraska. Her powerful, soulful voice transforms every piece she sings into a mesmerizing experience. Want to find out more? Check out our website at ashevilmuses.com
