"Imagine if Cranes and The Cure met in a dark alley... Abstracted Visions will appeal to fans of both bands as well as Cocteau Twins and Curve. -- Auralgasms.com" "On their debut album, Bella Lune draws influences from many of darkwave and coldwave's luminaries delivering a record that will appeal to fans of Collide, and Switchblade Symphony. The final product 'Abstracted Visions' is a fusion of modern trip-hop electro and post-shoegaze sensibility, interlacing slinky vocals and catchy synth lines, resulting in an engrossing listen that simulates the feeling of flowing through water. -- Musicfolio.com" Fuchsia began playing instruments and writing poetry at a very early age. She started her musical career as the vocalist in the band Annadyne, in 2002. After Annadyne broke up in 2005, she began writing guitar-based songs on her own. She met Kal3id in October of 2005, and formed the concept for Bella Lune shortly thereafter. Kal3id provided additional arrangement and instrumentation for the first album, and helped Fuchsia to mix, produce, and master the songs. Bella Lune released the album "Abstracted Visions" as a digital download on October 31, 2007. The CD became available in print on March 31, 2008. Since the initial release of the CD, Bella Lune recruited Hurley to play synth bass for the live show. They played their first official live gig, opening for The Strand, on April 13th 2008. People who are interested in The Cure Cranes Collide should consider this download.
