We've known each other for 20 some odd years and had mutual respect for our love of music and the talent that we each admired. I have to say up front that it was Steve's persistence more than I that started our mutual musical path. Showing up to my gigs non-grate only because he wanted to make himself a better player on his newly acquired Gibson mandolin and the chance to discover were he could take it. Around this time I had been experimenting with the harmonica. When these two sounds came together we new as well as the audience that we were onto something special. So here is a collection of songs that best exemplifies this period time that we went through and the Kindred Spirits that we felt.
