Details: On a hot summer night in July of 1982, the Passons family was greeted with a bundle of joy.....and Brad was born that night too. His parents sang to him from day one and eventually it took. Brad knew he wanted to be a rock star once he realized that chicks liked musicians and it hasn't really helped him as of yet, but he's still making music anyway. After high school, Brad toyed with the idea of education but after 3 and half years of community college, he decided it was time to give 100 effort toward his goal of being a working musician. Passons has played with many great musicians, and the horizon is looking great. He has upcoming shows with Seth Horan and Matt Nathanson and he'll be coming to a town near you. Check the shows section for more info. Oh yeah, and Brad wants you to know the following tidbits of info. - - - - -
