Details: Award-winning singer composer Kyane Howland is a creative diva who bravely dives INTO the "two hours and ten everywhere between our chairs". Fascinated with the falling in and out of coffeecups we humans do when trying to relate, she takes a whimsical yet searing look at love and it's divine piracy. Songs were magpie-eyed from Mexico, backpacks, psychiatric units, hidden rivers, black cats in heat, healing machines of outsider artists like Emery Bladgon, from under umbrellas, whipperwhirls, and Anne Sexton's poetry whispered at three a.m. Kyane has appeared on Public Radio, has disappeared in a great lake, has reappeared in coffeeshops, universities, and theaters to howl, warble, and offer "mouthfuls of soul" to all who need to laugh about falling in love with life! Imagine Suzanne Vega, Joni Mitchell, Tom Waits, Alanis and you sitting at a splintered table breathing secrets in through the steam of hazelnut coffee and remembering the amazing things we came here to do.
